I think love is a chemistry between two people. The person I love most is my wife, of course. You can see us in the picture on our wedding day. It was a very traditional wedding. She wore white and looked beautiful. Love doesn't always make you happy. It can make us feel very unhappy when we are away from each other, and I travel a lot for work.

Love is about caring for someone. My son is the one I love most. I'm divorced now from his father, which is good for me. I enjoy being single. Love means allowing the other person to be free. I hope I will allow my son to be free and to make his own choices in life. Rosie
